

smaller quantity of medications and reduced availability of corrosives, especially in adolescent at-risk groups.